$95 marked down from $1M!

June 3 - 1969

Imagine this kind of bargain: "$95 marked down from $1 million." That's just the kind of nickle nursing coup pulled off by the City of Scotts Valley. The city has purchased three obsolete Corporal guided missiles at $95 apiece. An official at Lockheed's Santa Cruz test station estimates their original cost at $1 million each. What does Scotts Valley want with three guided missiles? They'll be used for — hang onto your hat — street culverts. City officials report they cost far less than regular culvert tubing. Both the missiles and their containers will be used. Jun Lee, left, of the Scotts Valley planning department, explains the strange purchase to secretary Donna Berri.
